In this article, we delve into the metaphorical and philosophical dimensions of the "autobiography of death," examining how death is portrayed across different contexts, its symbolic significance, and what it reveals about human existence.

The Concept of Death as a Personal NarrativeThe idea of an autobiography implies a personal, subjective recounting of one's life experiences. When applied to death, this notion suggests that death, too, can be envisioned as an autobiographical entity—a story that encompasses its origins, purpose, and eventual impact on the living. While death does not possess consciousness or self-awareness, viewing it through this lens provides a poetic way to interpret its role in human life.

Death as a StorytellerHistorical Perspectives: Cultures worldwide have personified death as a figure—such as the Grim Reaper in Western traditions or Yama in Hindu and Buddhist beliefs—each with a story that reflects societal attitudes towards mortality.

Literature and Art: Writers and artists often depict death as a narrator or protagonist that guides or challenges the living, turning the end of life into a chapter in a larger story about existence.

Philosophical Interpretations: Philosophers like Heidegger have discussed death as the "ultimate horizon" of human existence, framing it as the final chapter that gives meaning to life itself.

The Narrative Structure of DeathThe "autobiography of death" can be imagined as a story with key elements:
